

A rescuer with 25 years of activity dedicated to the safety of citizens was spent in reserve

Platoon-major of the internal service Ion Bologan of the Sîngerei Rescuers and Firefighters Unit was spent in reserve, after 25 years of activity dedicated to the homeland, of which 14 years within the Rescuers and Firefighters Service.

During his career, Mr. Bologan worked as a senior rescuer, demonstrating professionalism, courage and dedication in numerous intervention and lifesaving missions.

For the outstanding results obtained in the service, Platoon Major Ion Bologan was decorated with distinctions and honorable mentions, including: "Impeccable Service" of the first, second and third degrees, the "Eminent Rescuer" Badge and the Medal "For bravery in exceptional situations".

According to the tradition established over the years within the institution, the platoon-major was spent in reserve, being sprinkled with water from the intervention hoses, a symbol of gratitude and respect for his service comrades. Colleagues expressed gratitude to Platoon Major Ion Bologan for the years of impeccable service and for the example of dedication and responsibility offered to new generations of rescuers.

colleagues and comrades from SSE Sîngerei thanked him for his years of work, for the professionalism and team spirit shown throughout his entire career. As a sign of gratitude, wishes of health, accomplishments and successes in civil activity were addressed.

